The last named prisoner was a negro who shot at a City Marshal John the morning of two years ago. Soon after the shooting he made his escape, but through the efforts of Detective Hicks Willis was located at Princeton, Ind., a few weeks since and brought to this county for trial. It is but justice to Mr. Willis to note that he assisted in fixing the crimes with which they were charged on all three prisoners.

INTERESTING DISCUSSION

Of Topics Relating to Educational Matters and Methods.

Discussed By the Cloverport Teachers' Association Saturday.

MOST PROFITABLE MEETING.

The institute held by the teachers of the Cloverport magisterial district at the high school in this city, last Saturday afternoon, was an interesting and profitable event.

There were quite a number of the patrons and visitors out to hear the proceedings and the following teachers were present:

Milton Coke, J. C. Baahan, Frank Burdett, Miss Mary Mooman, Miss Anna Raitt, S. E. Hancock, R. F. Laible, Forrest Haynes and F. E. Beavin.

County Superintendent Driskell was present and took a leading part in the exercises.

At the opening of the meeting Rev. C. Bray invoked the Divine blessing upon those present and made a most eloquent and beautiful prayer.

Ed. Goodnight delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to in behalf of the teachers by Milton Coke, who, in very eloquent terms, thanked the people of Cloverport for the cordial reception that had been accorded the teachers.

In well chosen words County Superintendent Andrew Driskell pointed out the value and objects of the Teachers' Association, and showed what great good it was doing in inspiring interest in their profession on the part of the pedagogues.

Prof. S. E. Hancock read a most interesting and valuable paper on educational advancement in Kentucky. His address was an exhaustive review and history of education in this state from colonial days to the present time. It was an able paper and was a splendid testimonial to the professor's erudition and knowledge of educational work.

"The District Library and How to Secure it," was discussed by S. E. Hancock, J. C. Baahan, and Milton Coke. Some valuable practical suggestions were given.

One of the finest addresses that has ever been delivered in Cloverport was made to the Association by Rev. C. Bray, whose topic was Ethics and Education. It was a most eloquent and patriotic dissertation on the value of the common school as a promoter of moral principles and ethics. He paid a beautiful tribute to the common school, and the teachers, and said that the school system in this country was the bulwark of the republic. He said that, while differences in theological views prevented the teaching of religion in public schools, it was imperative that the instructors educate the children as well as the minds or pupils. He said that the main idea of the public school was to create an intelligent citizenship, and an intelligent citizen was one who had a knowledge of and lived up to the code of ethics prescribed by the moral law.

A ministry paper was next read by Prof. F. A. Beavin, whose theme was "The Moral Arithmetic." He showed the value of this branch of arithmetic as a mental stimulant. It gave a systematic training to the mind and strengthened the memory.

"Psychology" was the subject treated on by Rev. T. V. Joiner. He gave a splendid definition of the science and pointed out the value of the study of the mind and soul. He explained the difficulties that were in the way and how they could be overcome. His paper was a most able one and was treated in so rapid and interesting a manner that all could understand and appreciate it. Rev. Joiner's paper was discussed by Ed Goodnight who showed how the science of psychology could be practically applied by the teacher to his everyday duties. He pointed out the fact that while the child's mind was being developed its tendencies could be readily seen by the teacher and where the trend was in the wrong direction it could be corrected, and where it was in the right channel it could be encouraged. Mr. Goodnight said that it was a mistake for sociologists to begin to correct evils and weaknesses in the individual after he had attained man's estate when his criminal or vicious habits had become a part of his individuality. The time to begin that work is during school years when the tendency toward evil would be best and most easily discouraged.

Milton Coke gave a splendid talk in which he suggested some very beneficial changes that could be made in the school laws of Kentucky. He advocated the payment of salaries to trustees and school men who were selected to fill that important position should be mentally equipped for the office. He also urged that a higher standard of efficiency be required of the teacher and suggested that he or she be paid according to his or her ability. One of his truisms was: "A poor teacher is dear at any price and a good teacher is cheap at any price."

Mr. Coke said that much depended upon the teacher themselves. If they were satisfied, and conscientious in their work they could create a public interest and sentiment that could accomplish anything.

The Refractory Pupil and How to Reform Him" was the next topic. Milton Coke advocated a firm, but kind discipline. He said it was the duty of the teacher to counsel with and advise the refractory pupil. This should be done at the kindest spirit. He advocated gentleness but said that no compromise should be made with evil and where stern measures should be used, the teacher should not hesitate. The rod was sometimes a great disciplinarian.

Prof. Beavin said the way to conquer the refractory pupil was to love him. Ed Goodnight advocated a system of school government in which the pupils be required to share the task of maintaining order. He maintained where the scholars were placed on their honor their chivalric instincts would inspire them to see that the rules of the school were strictly and conscientiously enforced. A sentiment could be created in the school by this means that would make the infraction of rules unpopular and which would cause the refractory pupil to be ostracized by the other pupils.

The pupils could select their own monitors, made it a matter of honor to report violation of rules, and help to administer punishment; the latter not to be of a corporal nature. This system of government would involve military discipline and methods to a greater or lesser extent but could be put into practical operation.

A vote of thanks was extended the people of Cloverport by the teachers for the hearty manner in which they had been welcomed and the interest that had been taken in the institute by the city's leading friends of education.

THE SITUATION.

ENGLAND and France are at daggers points. War may be declared between the two nations at any moment. The trouble arises over the French occupation of Fashoda, in the Sudan. Great Britain regards this as an encroachment upon her territory. According to the views of the British Empire is trying acquire domain in the Sudan by squatter sovereignty, threatening force as a means to establish her title to the territory. Both countries are at loggerheads and neither seems disposed to concede a point to the other. Should France and England engage in war the interests of the United States will be jeopardized. France is not for trouble with some foreign power. Her army, which is under a cloud, is eager for an opportunity to vindicate itself on the field. Unless something happens to give it employment civil war may take place and the government be threatened with destruction. The opportunity to fight England has arrived and unless French conservatism, an unknown quantity, asserts itself, war will take place. England's extremity will be Russia's opportunity. She will begin to stir up a fuss in China. England, Japan and the United States, the powers most interested in the maintenance of the open door and free, unrestricted trade in China will be compelled to resort to arms to head off Moscow aggression. France will egg Russia on. French capitalists own over $400,000,000, of Cuban bonds. The decided stand our government has taken against assuming Spain's bonded indebtedness in Cuba jeopardizes French financial interests as Spain is bankrupt and should be compelled to carry the burden Cuban bonds would not be worth a bauble. Four hundred millions of dollars, according to the French idea, is worth fighting for and unless our peace commissioners get a hustle on themselves and close up negotiations with Spain in short order we may be in the position of the man who wrestled with the bear. He was afraid to hold on and equally afraid to let go. European diplomacy is a treacherous thing. Powerful influences are at work against the United States. The long looked for coalition of the Latin races is about to be consummated. When it takes place it will be a fight of Latin against Saxon and the struggle will be one that will shake the world to its center. Maps will be changed as they never were before and all previous wars of history will be pygmy conflicts as compared with this. Wealth and blood will be wasted to satiate the greed and lust for power. It may be that the two nations are bluffing and that matters will be settled without strife. But as the game now stands John Bull and Jean Crepeau both have their hands on their guns and their eyes on the jack pot. Car Nicholas and Uncle Sam are holding their seats ready to take a hand in the scrap.

The stamp tax is a bitter pill for the druggists.

The failure of the pig tobacco trust was probably due to the fact that the organizers bit off more than they could chew.

The fact that the wire workers have gone on strike at Cleveland, Ohio, need not be taken as evidence that this is an off year in politics.

Put your shoulder to the wheel and push the chariot of progress. Better spend a little time arguing agricultural questions rather than politics. Try it and see."

TO MAKE GOOD TIMES.

You may talk about the tariff and protection and free trade, and party passions for opposing human life, and "improving trade conditions," and the board that wheat has made, but the way to stir up business is to stir up your little bill. If you own the grocer twenty and he owes the butcher ten, and five more to the coal man, and to the ice man five, your payment of the twenty helps three business men and the payments you can make in turn make other people thrive. Idle money in your pocket doesn't do you any good, unless your bills are paid up in full it isn't yours. You say up all your bills and you will find that others would, that's the receipt for hard times that invariably comes. If you say what you own others, still can pay you, it's the circulating dollar that the pulse of business thrills; so set your money working and then watch what it will do, for the way to stir up business is to pay your little bills.—Ex.

THE SIEGE OF IT.

It is inevitable that the United States accept the policy of expansion. It would be a cowardly evasion of responsibility for the nation to do otherwise. People who oppose expansion on the grounds that it would involve new relations with continental powers and would bring up new questions of governmental policy are the victims of foolish fears. The genius of our statesmanship and the fitness of our economic principles will make us the conquerors of all obstacles. The arguments some persons advance in opposition to expansion are at par with the following:

"Don't you know," said a politician, "that some of the islands in the Pacific ocean are not worth the cost of the war?" "What has that got to do with us taking possession of them?" asked the expansionist. "My friend, you are wholly deficient in the foresight that makes a statesman. Supposing some ship with a cargo of insect powder was to founder in the neighborhood?" "The evils that attend expansion are just about as appalling as the results would be were a ship loaded with insect powder to sink near a coral island."

NEEDED LEGISLATION.

Every road in the United States is bothered by the free riders nuisance, and it is a serious problem. The railroad men say that it is growing, and that the number of tourists who use side door tramps, bumpers and crumpled up newspapers, and who use the roads for free rides, is increasing every year, and they now advocate a national law to stop this evil, but there appears to be no prospect of a law that would free our future from a law of that kind.—Owensboro Messenger.

The Messenger has called attention to a great nuisance and a possible remedy. For the past quarter of a century the tramp problem has been a sore to the modern tramp virtually owes his existence to the railroads. The fact that he can obtain transportation free of charge, to all parts of the country, gives him almost unlimited forage grounds. To-day he is in Pittsburg, to-morrow in Louisville. The fact that the tramp is a transient and not a resident pauper makes him harder to deal with than the poor we have with us. The few carriers that they are only temporary in their nature. Deprive the tramp of his opportunity to get free rides over the railroads and you rob his life of its chief charm. The tramp army would be reduced very materially if in modern times were compelled to walk. One of the great curses of the free ride evil is the fact that it allows young fellows to travel in the past few weeks the Louisville police have apprehended a half-score of youthful tramps who have been beating their way from town to town on freight trains. The novelty of seeing new places and the opportunity to public in response to their appeals for food, the ease with which they could steal rides, encouraged the boys to remain away from home and land. It is not been for the police they might have become confirmed parasites. A national law, making it a criminal act, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, for stealing rides on railway trains, would undoubtedly be a splendid means of solving the tramp problem.

GOETHE ON EXPANSION.

ALMOST a century ago Goethe, the great German savant, with prophetic foresight, saw that manifest destiny would force the United States to adopt a policy of expansion in the Pacific. On the isthmus of Panama he predicted, in the following words, such a consummation. "A great spirit of enterprise will manifest itself in the future that will result in the cutting of a canal of such character as will allow ships with any kind of cargo, and of every, even the greatest, size to pass from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean. This will result for the civilized world, also for the not uncivilized part of mankind, the most incalculable advantage. I should, however, be astonished if the United States were to let slip the opportunity of getting such a work into their own hands. One may foresee that that youthful country with its pronounced tendency toward the west, will have seized upon and pushed, within the next thirty or forty years, even the wide stretches of land beyond the Rocky Mountains. One may also foresee that along all this coast of the Pacific, where the sea already created the most spacious and most secure harbors, there will gradually rise very important commercial towns, which will become the intermediaries of a great intercourse between China and the East Indies on the one side and the United States on the other. I repeat, then, that it is absolutely imperative for the United States to effect at cutting from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific ocean. And I am sure they will effect that aim." Goethe was inspired with the true spirit of the prophet and the lapse of years have witnessed a partial fulfillment of his predictions. As he foretold, the irresistible tendency toward expansion—characteristic of a vigorous people—has resulted in the building of an empire upon the Pacific slopes. Commercial towns have sprung up like magic and the ripeness of Goethe's wisdom is apparent in the birth of the greater America that is reaching out for imperial power in the Pacific. The acquisition of the Philippines, which is only a question of some time, will make the United States the dominant commercial factor in the east. The merit and vitality of her economic system will eventually make her the controlling political force, of which will promote the well of humanity, civilized and uncivilized, within the pale of her influence. A means toward that end will be the completion of the Nicaragua canal. Destiny has ordained it and the new-born interests of the republic demand it.

Liver Trouble

When the yellow flag of quarantine is hoisted over a dwelling it means disease and danger. So when the yellow flag flies in the face—when the check is issued and the clear white of the eye is dyed saffron—there is danger. It is liver trouble. The liver is one of the most important organs of the body. On the proper discharge of its functions depend human health and happiness. When the liver fails of its duty, poisons at once begin to generate, and other organs of the body become involved. Never neglect the liver if you value health. If you are suffering from liver trouble, begin at once the use of AYER'S PILLS and you will find prompt relief and permanent cure.

"I was so weakened by liver trouble that I could scarcely get up. After taking this condition I began the use of Ayer's Pills, and feeling almost immediately better, continued their use until I was cured of my complaint."

INQUIRIES.

Who knows the weight of sorrow that I bear,
Or tries to lighten make my load of care?
Who hears the wail of anguish from my heart,
Or grives with me when burning tears drop start?
Who seeks to rend the veil of dark despair,
Or asks the cup of grief with me to share?
Who takes my hand and guides my weary feet,
Or calls the thorns and scutes flowers sweet?
It is not human hands that comfort bring;
Nor human voices that Hope's anthem sing.
'Tis He whose halo shines upon my way
And turns grief's blackest night to brightest day.
He knows my heart, He hears its faintest moan.
Oh blessed thought! with Him I'm not alone.

DEATH OF HENRY O'BRIEN.

The End Came Suddenly and Was a Shock to Friends.

His Demise Was Caused By Acute Bright's Disease.

On Friday the whole community was shocked by learning of the sudden death of Henry M. O'Brien. He was a fireman on the Henderson Road and was exceedingly popular with all who knew him.

He was taken sick Monday, but as his illness was not considered alarming, very few were aware of the fact that he was off duty. On Tuesday he developed symptoms of an alarming nature and it was found that he was suffering from an attack of bright's disease. His death took place at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Henry M. O'Brien was born near Hodgenville, Ia. Rue county, August 11, 1875. He moved with his family to this city in 1892 and attended the common schools here and at Hite Run.

He was working for the L. H. & S. L. railroad company for several years and at the time of his death was a fireman on engine 7.

He had many fine qualities and his unflinching good nature and loyalty to his friends made him very popular with everybody. He possessed a fine physique and disposition and had lived long enough to have undoubtedly a fine career in a responsible position at his trade.

He was a member of the A. O. U. W. and carried an insurance policy for $1,000 with that order.

The funeral took place Sunday, the interment being in S. Roman's cemetery at Harbington. The A. O. U. W. attended in a body and over 50 persons went from here to Harbington to assist at the last and rites were performed over the remains of the deceased.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Wreaths, shields, crosses and anemones, composed of cut flowers and immortelles were sent by friends from this city and Louisville.

The deceased leaves a father, mother and five brothers, all of whom have the sincere sympathy of the whole community.

The following resolutions were adopted by the A. O. U. W., of which lodge he was a member:

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF BRO. HENRY M. O'BRIEN.

WHEREAS, Almighty God in His own appointed time hath taken our beloved brother from our midst, be it therefore resolved:

Resolved, That we, in our brotherhood, this lodge has lost a true, faithful, hardworking, one who had the true spirit of a fellow workman and one who was ever ready to lend a helping hand in time of need. He no longer answers the roll call here, his spirit has gone to join the celestial lodge above. His voice will no longer be heard among us but we cherish his memory as a true light in our beloved order, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the lodge and a copy to be sent to the family of our deceased brother.

JOHN BROWN, J. S. BROWN, J. A. BROWN.

Committee A. O. U. W., Cloverport Lodge No. 42.

2100 Keward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one diseased that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hail's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity.

Catarrh being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional treatment. Hail's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Public Statement From A Public Man

Hon. W. H. O'Leary, Ex-Secretary of State of West Virginia, writes an open letter.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Mar. 6, 1909.

To whom it may concern:

"I most heartily recommend Peruna as of great benefit in cases of catarrh. It is especially beneficial wherever the mucous membranes are affected. As a tonic it certainly has no superior."

W. H. O'Leary, Ex-Secretary of State.

Hon. W. H. O'Leary.

Peruna has cured thousands of obstinate cases of catarrh, and is perhaps the only efficient remedy in existence for catarrhal diseases; but there are countless multitudes of people who are still struggling with catarrh and need help. To such as these the unqualified recommendation of Peruna by Ex-Secretary O'Leary is directed. Peruna is a scientific and purely vegetable. All druggists sell it.

W. C. Winstanley, secretary of the Bedford, Ind., Steam Stone Sawmill Company, and C. S. Norton, president of the Norton Stone Company, were in the city Sunday inspecting the Acme brick plant with a view to purchasing the property. It is understood that steps will be immediately taken to put the plant in repair and in good working order.

General Manager Hikes, of the Acme Brick Company, had the party in charge.

Trouble in Constructing the New Tar Springs Road.

The city men who were called out to work and meet up the new road from this city to Tar Springs and Piquah church, went on a strike Saturday.

They were of the opinion that the clearing of the right of way was all that was required of them. The men went to Harbington to confer with Judge Ahl in regard to the matter and finally agreed to work another day.

Purchased a Piano.

Mr. Crabbe made a flying trip to Louisville Saturday and purchased a piano for use in his school, which by the way is progressing nicely with the satisfaction of the people of this community.

Certainly we are to be congratulated upon having obtained such an educator as Prof. Crabbe and his wife and it behooves us to co-operate with him in his every effort in building up a successful school. He is the right man in the right place and we are very proud of the enterprise.

FROM FOOT TO KNEE

Ohio Woman Suffered Great Agony From a Terrible Skin Story of the Feet, and Her Cure.

"For many years I was afflicted with a milk leg, and a few years ago it broke out in a sore and spread from my foot to my knee. I suffered great agony. It would burn and itch all the time and discharge a great deal. My health was good with the exception of this. I tried a great many kinds of salve, but none would irritate the sore so that I could hardly stand the pain. I could not go near the fire without suffering intensely. Some sent me papers containing testimonials of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I told my husband I would try it. This medicine, he got me a bottle and found it helped me. I kept on taking it until my limb was completely healed. It cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla enough for the great benefit it has been to me. It cleanses the blood of all impurities and leaves it rich and pure." MISS ANNA B. EAKEN, Whitewater, Ohio.

You can get Hood's Sarsaparilla at all druggists. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic. Price 25c.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A heavy frost fell on Saturday, October 12, 1878.

It was rumored twenty years ago that Jo M. Laffitt had taken a trip to Louisville to get married.

Capt. J. M. White went to New Orleans to break the charge of the star, J. M. White, the largest boat on western waters.

Cloverport boys who were up-to-date in those days used much as perfume and they could be smelled a furlong away.

Hon. T. T. Crittenden, who was raised in Cloverport, and who afterward became governor of Missouri, was running for congress in Missouri.

M. Hamman, while returning from a funeral was thrown from the horse and had his right shoulder badly dislocated and his head fearfully gashed.

Smith and Beard conducted the Hardinsburg and Cloverport express, made tri-weekly trips and connected with the mail boats for Louisville and Evansville.

On Monday evening, October 14, 1878, A. A. Laffitt was married to Miss Alice Miller, Rev. J. L. Edgington officiating. The happy couple took a bridal tour on a steamer.

John Bender advertised himself as a "doctor's helper." He did cupping, bleeding, tooth pulling, hair dying at all hours and in the most approved manner. His office was in the Cloverport Hotel.

On the morning of the 24th of October, 1878, a fire occurred which destroyed the wagon factory and blacksmith shop of J. L. Miller, the shingle, spoke, stove factory and cooper shop of W. W. & Myers and the cooperage of J. W. Steele, loss $5,000. Incendiarism was supposed to be the cause. Then as now, after a fire the people clamored for waterworks and fire fighting apparatus.

Truth wears well. People have learned that Dr. Witt's Little Early Riser are reliable little pills for regulating the bowels, curing constipation and sick headache. They don't grip and—Short & Haynes.

FARM AND STOCK.

Some of the corn in shock has been badly damaged by the damp weather.

Within 50 years the commercial fertilizer industry in the U. S. has grown from nothing until at present $5 to 10 million dollars worth are used annually.

Over 3,000 cattle at Mt. Sterling on Court day. First-class feeders sold at 44 cents; majority of sales at 4 to 6 cents; good yearlings selling at 4 to 5.

J. H. Bangham, of Boyle county, sold to J. M. Wakefield, of Washington, Ind., a four-year-old jack for $300. J. T. Fox, Jr., sold to same party a five-year-old, for $125.

About 150 cattle sold at Stanford on Court day. Best price for steers 4 cents; heifers dull at 3 to 3 1/2 cents. Butcher stock, which brought 24 to 3 cents.

The General Land Office has just issued a statement to the effect that at the present time there are 579,369,274 acres of unappropriated and unreserved public land in the United States, exclusive of Alaska.

Reports from the wheat fields of the North west are discouraging. In Manitoba only about 5,000,000 bushels of a wheat crop of 250,000,000 bushels has been threshed, and the balance standing in shocks and stacks is threatened with destruction.

Sheep quickly find their quarters when kept in confinement, and their bedding should, therefore be changed frequently. They must be kept clean and dry if we would have them thrive and in constant good health.

Good judges who have seen a good deal of the barley crop of Kentucky say it is not good in color, and much of it will be of non-descript grades. The manufacturers will have to hustle for what's in sight of the old crop with any color.

The week. The news reaches us that the farms are sowing a large acreage of this fall. The sale of fertilizer has increased this year over what it has ever been before. The results from it have been very satisfactory in wheat crop and the farmer finds his great bonanza in it when there is a good season.

An official of the Santa Fe railroad is quoted as saying that the last flour mill in Topeka, Kan., has shut down for the want of grain to grind. It is estimated that seventy-five mills in the State are idle from this cause. It is said that it's farmers are holding 70,000,000 bushels of wheat because money is plentiful and they look for better prices.

The estimated average yield of corn per acre for the entire State of Kentucky is 72 1/2 bushels. This is the official figure of the State Agric. Expt. Sta. This is 1/2 bushel per acre greater than the 1896 average. This average for the western section is 1 1/2 bushels. There will be no lack of the product of the corn field this year.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Knees, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself, right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, gets rid of bile, and gives you the natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at Short & Haynes.

ANNALS OF THE TOWN.

A local punster poked his head inside the door of Stadler's meat market the other day and called out:

"Can a cowhide here?"

Henry went the punster one better by answering:

"No, but calfskin."

John Vest has his private opinion of Dr. Simons' age. Speaking of the items that appeared in the News under the caption "Twenty Years Ago," Mr. Vest said:

"When Dr. Simons went to Lewisport, twenty years ago, to start a tin shop, he made me a tin rattie box as a toy. This will give you some idea as to how much younger I am, than Dr. Simons."

Robert C. Mattingly, of Baltimore, was in town the other day. As he was leaving the city he happened to catch sight of Attorney Hal C. Murray and he called out to the latter.

"Oh! Mr. Murray, are you going to see into those cases at Baltimore?"

"Ha, who had not heard of the cases!"

"What cases?"

Mr. Mattingly answered, "egg cases," and rode away without smiling.

Colonel William Ashby, the only successful cultivator of fish and ginseng, was in the city the other day and was hounded by a local politician.

In the course of his remarks, the politician said: "I tell you what, Bill, the republican party must get rid of the trade and monopolies."

"In other words," remarked Bill Ashby to the politician, "you want the republican party to go out of politics."

One of the best housekeepers in this city was complaining the other day, of the trouble she had with her colored servant.

Her friend listened to her tale of woe, and said, sympathetically: "I suppose you have the same trouble with your help that I have with mine. When you get a new one order it in one ear and out the other."

"No," said the good housekeeper, "my help cannot get anything through her head that easy."

Frank Payne was talking to Major General Aleck Robinson, the other day, and he said to that distinguished gentleman of color:

"Aleck, I see that the government is going to send all the negro troops to Cuba and they will be placed at the front."

"O! de Lawd's sake, Massa Payne, what an de guv'mint 'goin' to do dat for? Why are 'goin' to put the colored soldiers at de front?"

"Because they are fast black, and won't run," said Frank.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. Dr. Witt's Little Early Riser are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them.—Short & Haynes.

Doctors Can't Cure It!

Contagious blood poison is absolutely beyond the skill of the doctors. They may dose a patient for years on their mercurial and potash remedies, but he will be no wiser of the disease on the other hand, his condition will grow steadily worse. S. S. S. is the only cure for this terrible affliction, because it is the only remedy which goes direct to the cause of the disease and forces it from the system.

I was afflicted with blood poison, and the best doctors did me no good. My treatment failed. I was told to get worse all the time. I was so badly afflicted that I could not even get out of bed. I was so weak that I could not even get up. I was so miserable that I was almost dead. I was so afflicted that I was almost dead. I was so afflicted that I was almost dead.

It is like self-destruction to continue to use the old remedies, which are now totally destroying the digestion, they dry up the marrow in the bones, producing a stiffness and weakness of the joints, causing the hair to fall out, and completely wrecking the system.
